

Vendor/Contractor List

This document contains three lists to help businesses locate vendors or contractors for enhanced automation projects. The lists provide contact information, a brief description of services and/or products, California presence, and product/software name where applicable.

The lists are divided as follows:

- Energy Management System Vendors
- Energy Information System Vendors
- Contractors (e.g., commissioning, energy services, energy management)

While this list contains a variety of companies active in California, it should not be considered comprehensive, as companies providing these services change frequently. For updated listings, email enhancedautomation@xenergy.com or call 866-732-5591.

Inclusion on the list does not imply that California Energy Commission or XENERGY Inc. endorses or accepts any responsibility for the vendors and contractors. California Energy Commission or XENERGY Inc. is not liable for any damages attributable to use of vendors or contractors found through this listing.

Any corrections or proposed additions to this list should be directed to enhancedautomation@xenergy.com or 866-732-5591.

Energy Management System Vendors

The following is a list of companies that sell energy management systems. California distributors are listed when they are indicated on the company's web page. However, most companies with no listing might have local distributors, installers, or service technicians.

When deciding on the right EMS to install, it is important to keep in mind several important features, like compatibility with existing control systems and the possibility for further upgrades. Another important aspect is ensuring the EMS has the capabilities to include all the strategies the business desires in their EA system.

Please refer to the EMS and Decision Making sections in the Technical Options Guidebook for more information on EMS and the variables to keep in mind when choosing one over another.

Energy Information System Vendors

The following is a list of companies that sell energy management systems. Note that individual companies may use different phrasing to describe their products and services. Location of offices or distributors is not a major consideration in choosing an EIS vendor that is right for a business as most companies offer services to wide territories.

When deciding on the right EIS platform to acquire, it is important to know what level is desired for the business. The three levels are notification, analysis, and response. Different vendors offer different packages of service. Some vendors offer automated response and some provide a gateway to the EMS with the automated response.

Please refer to the EIS and Decision Making sections in the Technical Options Guidebook for more information on EIS and the variables to keep in mind when choosing one over another.
